NetDirector releases Mobile Web Application

Tampa, FL — July 23, 2013 – NetDirector, a leading cloud provider of data exchange services, today announced the availability of their new mobile web application to allow customers to manage their integration environment from their smart phones or tablets. With features like monitor access, home screen view (with system status), the ability to query transactions and error logs, and resend/hold transactions, NetDirector Mobile gives our customers the ability to monitor their business on the go. NetDirector Mobile utilizes HTML 5 adaptive mobile pages, which allow web content to display properly regardless of the brand of smartphone or tablet being used.

NetDirector Mobile version 1.0 includes the following functionality:

Monitor:

- Transaction queue searchable by transaction type, item identifier, transaction ID, sender, recipient and date/time range
- Transaction log searchable by transaction type, item identifier, transaction ID, sender, recipient and date/time range
- Error log searchable by transaction type, item identifier, transaction ID, sender, recipient and date/time range

Functions:

- Resend from transaction queue, transaction log or error log
- Placing transactions on hold for all transactions, transaction type or participant

“NetDirector needed an efficient and reliable solution to quickly extend its existing integration management capabilities to mobile computing devices.” said Harry Beisswenger, CEO at NetDirector. “With the launch of our mobile web app, we have delivered a solution that equips our users with a fast, easy way to manage their integration environment regardless of location.”
